In such case, the court may enter a civil judgment against you, collectable by the State Treasurer.

Preface

Legal Services of New Jersey (LSNJ) coordinates the statewide Legal Services system in New Jersey, providing free legal assistance to low-income people in civil matters. Part of Legal Services' mission is to make people more aware of their legal rights and provide helpful information if they choose to pursue a legal case on their own. Awareness may allow you to resolve some problems on your own, without the need for a lawyer, or to make better use of a lawyer if you have one.

About This Manual

This manual provides basic information about how to clear (expunge) a juvenile or adult record. In many cases, the process is relatively simple and can often be managed without the help of a lawyer. Legal Services offices often do not provide representation in such cases because their scarce resources are needed in other areas. This manual is provided in place of a lawyer. It is intended to help people to help themselves.

A Word of Caution About Using This Manual

This manual does not give advice about a particular legal problem that you may have, and it is not a substitute for seeing a lawyer when you need one. Talk to a lawyer if you think you need the help.

The information in this manual is accurate as of June 15, 2020, but laws often change. Please check our website, www.lsnjlaw.org, for updates to this manual, or talk to a lawyer for up-to-date legal advice.

Clearing Your Record Online

If you are eligible for expungement, you can create and print forms to submit to the court. Clearing Your Record Online also includes a series of instructional videos that explain the expungement process and other resources to help you with expungement.

If You Need a Lawyer

If you are a low-income New Jersey resident, you may be eligible for help from a Legal Services office in your area. You can find a list of regional Legal Services programs and telephone numbers on our website, www.lsnjlaw.org. You may also be eligible for free legal advice from LSNJLAWSM, Legal Services of New Jersey's statewide, toll-free legal hotline. You may apply online at www.lsnjlawhotline.org or call the hotline at 1-888-LSNJ-LAW (1-888-576-5529). Outside of New Jersey, please call (732) 572-9100 and ask to be transferred to the hotline. Hotline hours are Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. If you are eligible, we can help you through the expungement process. To find a private lawyer, call the lawyer referral service of your county bar association.

Introduction

A record of arrest or conviction can haunt a person forever. It can create barriers to employment, housing, education, and other pursuits. Many people can solve this problem if they are eligible to clear (expunge) their criminal record.

New Jersey law provides a limited right to expungement. The primary purpose of New Jersey's expungement law is to provide a fresh start to those who have only a few convictions or have demonstrated their rehabilitation. The law also provides for the expungement of dismissed cases, juvenile offenses, and certain victims' convictions. Some records, cannot be expunged, such as out-of-state arrests or convictions, most motor vehicle-related offenses, and very serious crimes.

The law carefully defines who is eligible to expunge a criminal record. Generally, an eligible person must prepare and file an application or a "petition" asking the court for an expungement.

A judge then decides whether to issue an Expungement Order. An Expungement Order means that, with some exceptions, the criminal proceedings never happened. It allows the person to apply for school, job, and housing opportunities truthfully without having to reveal that he or she was ever arrested or convicted.

Records Required to Be Kept Private

When an expungement is granted, law enforcement agencies and the courts are required by law to keep that person's records private. However, the law does allow expunged records to be used later in certain cases. Should the person ever again become involved in any criminal proceedings, the records can be used. This means that, if the person is arrested following expungement, his or her past records will be considered in deciding eligibility for supervisory treatment or diversion programs, setting bail, authorizing pre-trial release, preparation of pre-sentence reports, or for sentencing. If a crime victim files a claim with the Victims of Crime Compensation Office, the expunged records of the person convicted of the crime can be used in connection with the claim. If the criminal activity or arrest results in the person being incarcerated, the Department of Corrections is allowed to use the records in deciding how to classify and assign the prisoner within an institution.

Also, following a conviction and a jail sentence, expunged records can be used in deciding eligibility for parole (early release). Further, even if you were granted an expungement, your record may still be kept in the Pretrial Intervention Registry pursuant to R. 3:28(e), and reports of your record may be filed as required under the Controlled Dangerous Substance Registry Act of 1970.

Also, if the expunged records are the subject of litigation or judicial proceedings, the court may allow these records to be inspected by appropriate parties.

Many people want to go through the expungement process so that they can have a clear record when they apply for jobs. After a record of arrest or conviction is expunged, it should not appear on a criminal background check. Further, it is unlawful for an employer to ask you about an “expunged” record. However, the law allows exceptions where expunged records may be considered, such as when a person applies for a job with law enforcement, corrections, or the courts. This does not mean that those agencies will never employ people with records, but it does mean that those applying must still reveal the existence of an expunged record on a job application.

Agencies not associated with law enforcement that require information about a person’s criminal record prior to expungement (such as the Real Estate Commission or the Department of Insurance) cannot be compelled to correct their records after an Expungement Order is granted. Such agencies are beyond the reach of expungement orders and may continue to publicize such information.

The expungement process is fairly simple. This manual will tell you the exact steps to follow. It has been prepared to help you expunge your record if you cannot afford a lawyer. If you can afford an attorney and decide that you want him or her to take you through this process, the information in this manual may help you to decide whether or not you are eligible for an expungement. You may also visit LSNJ’s Clearing Your Record Online on our website, www.lsnjlaw.org, to find out if you are eligible to expunge your record and fill out forms online.

What is N.J.S.A. 2C:52?

The laws, also referred to as “statutes,” made by the New Jersey Legislature are kept in a set of volumes, called New Jersey Statutes Annotated (N.J.S.A.). These books are numbered and have “titles.” There are “chapters” in each book, and “articles” in each chapter. So N.J.S.A. 2C:52-1 means that the law on expungement can be found in N.J.S.A., title 2C, chapter 52, article 1. Title 2C refers to the Code of Criminal Justice. Besides the law on expungement, these books also contain most of New Jersey’s laws dealing with arrests, crimes, and punishment. These laws are also available online on the New Jersey Legislature website, www.njleg.state.nj.us.

Step 1: Are You Eligible?

The answer to this basic question usually depends on the type and number of adjudications or criminal records you have.* The type of records means whether a conviction was for an indictable offense (generally an offense punishable by six months of jail time or more), for a disorderly persons offense (generally an offense punishable by less than six months of jail time) (for the purposes of this manual, “disorderly persons” offenses refers to disorderly persons offenses and petty disorderly persons offenses), or for a violation of a municipal ordinance. Even where an indictable offense carries a penalty of six months or more of jail time, a judge is permitted, in some cases, to sentence you to probation instead of time in prison. So, it is possible that you were convicted of an indictable offense, even if you only served probation.

If the conviction or guilty plea occurred in the Superior Court and the offense carries a degree (first, second, third or fourth), the offense was probably an indictable offense. If, on the other hand, the conviction or guilty plea occurred in a local municipal court, it was probably a disorderly persons offense or municipal ordinance violation.

Note: Title 39 motor vehicle-related violations are not eligible for expungement. This includes speeding and driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

Clean Slate Expungement

Under a new “clean slate” provision, you may be eligible to expunge an entire record of arrests and convictions ten years after your most recent conviction, payment of fine, satisfactory completion of probation or parole or release from prison, whichever comes later. If you have any convictions for offenses that cannot be expunged (see list of convictions that cannot be expunged, below) you will not be eligible for this relief. The same procedure of traditional expungement applies also for clean slate expungement. For example, you must prepare and file a verified petition with the court, serve it on required parties, and provide the court with proof of service. After the court develops and implements an automated process for these expungements, petitions will no longer be accepted.

Drug Court Expungement

If you successfully completed drug court or court-ordered rehabilitation, you may be eligible to expunge all of your arrests and convictions for any indictable or disorderly persons offenses if:

- You were not convicted of any indictable or disorderly persons offense during the term of special probation or since the date of discharge from special probation;
- You were never convicted of any “non-expungeable” offenses (see list of convictions that cannot be expunged, below); and

* Only New Jersey matters may be expunged in New Jersey. If you want to expunge a record from another state or a conviction or arrest for a federal offense, you must contact the court system in that state or the federal court system to determine whether you may expunge that record.

- The court finds that the need for the availability of the records does not outweigh the desirability of freeing you from disabilities associated with the availability of your records.

Before the reforms signed into law in December 2019, many individuals seeking to expunge certain drug offenses were required to demonstrate that their applications met the “public interest.” Under the new law, this standard is changed to “compelling circumstances.” Additionally, drug court graduates are entitled to a “rebuttable presumption” (an assumption that stands unless someone proves otherwise) that they meet the standard.

However, if you received a drug court expungement and thereafter you are convicted of a crime, your full record of arrests and convictions may be restored to public access and you will not be eligible for another expungement.

If you successfully graduated from drug court prior to April 18, 2016, you may use the forms included in this manual to expunge your record. If you successfully graduated from drug court on or after April 18, 2016, contact the court or the public defender for more information.

Identity Theft and Human Trafficking

Individuals who were victims of identity theft and human trafficking may be eligible to expunge or delete certain arrests and convictions from their record. Such individuals should not file an expungement as set forth in this manual but must follow separate rules and procedures. Contact Legal Services of New Jersey for more information if you feel you may be entitled to this relief.

Expunging an Indictable Conviction

If you have a conviction for an expungeable indictable offense you may expunge that conviction (and up to three disorderly persons offenses) if any of the following are true:

- You have only been convicted of one indictable offense and do not have any other subsequent convictions for an indictable offense in New Jersey or any other state;
- You have been convicted of an indictable offense and have no more than three disorderly or petty disorderly persons offenses in New Jersey or any other state;
- You have been convicted of multiple indictable offenses or a combination of indictable and disorderly persons offenses, all of which are listed in a single judgment of conviction, and you do not have any other subsequent indictable conviction or offense; or
- You have been convicted of multiple indictable offenses or a combination of indictable and disorderly persons offenses that were interdependent or closely related in circumstances and were committed as part of a sequence of events that took place within a comparatively short period of time, regardless of the date of conviction or sentencing for each offense, and you do not have any other subsequent indictable conviction or offense.

Except for the circumstances listed below, you must wait at least a period of five years from the date of the most recent conviction, payment of any fine, completion of probation or parole, or release from jail—whichever is later—to be eligible.

The court may consider the nature and circumstances of any subsequent disorderly persons conviction(s) and may deny your petition if it considers the subsequent conviction(s) as a continuation of the type of unlawful activity as in the indictable conviction.

Outstanding Fines

If you are still on a court-ordered payment plan and it is not yet satisfied by reason other than willful noncompliance, and you have otherwise met the five year time requirement you may still be eligible to expunge, but the court will provide for the continued collection of the fine or entry of civil judgment, payable to and collected by the State Treasurer, for the outstanding amount. This provision also applies to the expungement of disorderly persons convictions.

Early Pathway Expungement of Indictable Convictions

The court may grant an expungement of an indictable offense even if less than five years have passed from date of the conviction, payment of fine, completion of probation or parole, or release from prison—whichever is later—if:

- Less than five years have passed since the payment of a fine (but the waiting requirement has otherwise been met), and the court finds that you substantially complied with a court-ordered payment plan, or could not do so because of compelling circumstances (this can include the amount of the fine or fines imposed, your age at the time of the offense, your financial condition, and other circumstances affecting your ability to pay); or
- At least four but less than five years have passed since the date of conviction, payment of fine, completion of probation or parole, or release from incarceration—whichever is later; you have had no further convictions for an indictable offense, disorderly persons offense since the time of the most recent conviction, and the court finds compelling circumstances exist to grant the expungement.

Crimes That Occurred at the Same Time

In certain cases, the court may count convictions for conduct that occurred at the same time as one indictable or one disorderly persons offense. If your criminal record contains several convictions that occurred as part of a single uninterrupted criminal act, they may be considered one offense or conviction for the purposes of expungement. However, if the crimes or offenses were committed on separate occasions, they will be counted as separate convictions.

Crimes That Cannot Be Expunged

- Criminal homicide (except death by auto as specified in N.J.S.A. 2C:11-5 and strict liability vehicular homicide as specified in N.J.S.A. 2C:11-5.3)
- Kidnapping

- Human trafficking
- Luring or enticing
- Sexual assault or aggravated sexual assault
- Aggravated criminal sexual contact
- Criminal sexual contact (if the victim is a minor)
- Criminal restraint or false imprisonment (if the victim is a minor and the offender is not the parent of the victim)
- Robbery
- Arson and related offenses
- Terrorism
- Producing or possessing chemical weapons, biological agents, or nuclear or radiological devices
- Endangering the welfare of a child by engaging in sexual conduct that would impair or debauch the morals of the child or causing the child other harm
- Photographing or filming a child in a prohibited sexual act or for portrayal in a sexually suggestive manner
- Causing or permitting a child to engage in a prohibited sexual act or the simulation of an act, or to be portrayed in a sexually suggestive manner
- Distributing, possessing with the intent to distribute, or using a file-sharing program to store items depicting the sexual exploitation or abuse of a child
- Possessing or viewing items depicting the sexual exploitation or abuse of a child
- Leader of a child pornography network
- Knowingly promoting the prostitution of the actor's child
- Perjury
- False swearing
- Conspiracies or attempt to commit such crimes.

Also, certain additional crimes, if committed prior to September 1, 1979, cannot be expunged:

- Manslaughter
- Treason
- Anarchy
- Rape or forcible sodomy
- Embracery
- Conspiracies or attempts to commit any of the foregoing; or aiding, assisting, or concealing persons accused of the foregoing crimes.
- Abuse of Public Office

Any indictable conviction for an offense committed by a person holding any public office in this state, or conspiracy or attempt to commit such an offense, cannot be expunged if the crime involved or touched such office, position, or employment.

Controlled Dangerous Substances

Convictions for the sale or distribution of a controlled dangerous substance or possession with the intent to sell cannot be expunged, except in cases where the crimes involve:

- Marijuana, where the total quantity sold, distributed, or possessed with intent to sell was less than one ounce; or
- Hashish, where the total quantity sold, distributed, or possessed with intent to sell was less than 5 grams.
- Any controlled dangerous substance provided that the conviction is of the third or fourth degree, where the court finds that compelling circumstances exist to grant the expungement.

While there is no such restriction on the expungement of convictions for possession with the intent to distribute, the State can object to your expungement, if it believes that the crime actually involved a sale or an intended sale. In that case, the court may consider the circumstances of your offense—such as the presence of cash, weapons or paraphernalia common to drug sale operations—to determine the true nature of the offense. Therefore, you may be required to establish that your offense did not involve a sale or intended sale by presenting evidence such as pre-sentence investigation reports, trial transcripts, testimony, or other proof from your criminal case.

Expedited Expungement, Sealing, and Regrading of Marijuana-Related Offenses

Individuals with the following marijuana-related convictions are eligible for immediate relief after payment of fine, completion of probation or parole, or release from incarceration or legal custody or supervision. The following offenses are included:

- Distribution or possession or having under control with intent to distribute less than one ounce of marijuana or less than five grams of hashish in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:35-5b(12) or such violation and a “school zone” or “public housing” violation under N.J.S.A. 2C:35-7a or N.J.S.A. 2C:35-7.1a (i.e., distributing, or possessing or having under control with intent to distribute, on or within 1,000 feet of any school property or within 500 feet of public housing facility, public park or public building); or
- Obtaining, possessing, using, being under the influence of, failing to make lawful disposition of marijuana or hashish in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:35-10a(3), N.J.S.A. 2C:35-10a(4) or N.J.S.A. 2C:35-10b or N.J.S.A. 2C:35-10c; or
- A violation involving marijuana or hashish as above, and using or possessing with intent to use drug paraphernalia in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:36-2.

Those who had such convictions prior to February 15, 2021 may petition for expungement, but do not need to include the verification (found on page 5 of form 1 and described on page 14 under “Other Requirements Before You Can File a Petition for Expungement”) or an order for a hearing, nor does the petition need to be served on other parties. For those who have such convictions on or after the effective date of the bill, the court will issue an “order of nondisclosure” covering relevant court, probation and law enforcement records and having similar effect as expungement.

For convictions for distribution of marijuana one ounce or more but less than five pounds or hashish over five grams but less than one pound in violation of N.J.S.A.

2C:35-5(11), an automatic order of non-disclosure will not be issued, however, will be expungeable after a three-year waiting period.

The new law also regrades the following marijuana-related criminal offenses as disorderly persons offenses for the purposes of expungement:

- Distribution or possession or having under control with intent to distribute one ounce or more but less than five pounds in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:35-5(11); or less than one ounce in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:35-5(12); or
- Violation of either and a “school zone” or “public housing” violation under N.J.S.A. 2C:35-7a or N.J.S.A. 2C:35-7.1; or
- Possession of more than 50 grams of marijuana or more than 5 grams of hashish in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:35-10a(3).

Any conviction for possession, using, being under the influence, or failing to make lawful disposition of marijuana or hashish in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:35-10 (simple possession); or use or possession with intent to use drug paraphernalia in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:36-2 is “not a conviction” and presumed expungeable.

Expunging a Disorderly Persons Conviction

If you have been convicted of one or more disorderly persons offenses, and have not been convicted of any indictable convictions, you may expunge those convictions if:

- You have only been convicted of no more than five disorderly persons offenses and do not have any other subsequent convictions for a disorderly persons offense in New Jersey or any other state;
- You have been convicted of multiple disorderly persons offenses all of which were entered on the same day and you do not have any other subsequent conviction for another offense; or
- You have been convicted of multiple disorderly persons offenses which were interdependent or closely related in circumstances and were committed as part of a sequence of events that took place within a comparatively short period of time, regardless of the date of conviction or sentencing for each offense, and you do not have any other subsequent conviction for another offense.

Before applying to expunge a record consisting of five or fewer disorderly persons convictions, you must wait five years from the date of the most recent conviction, payment of fine, completion of probation or parole, or release from incarceration—whichever is later.

If you were convicted of up to three disorderly persons offenses, AND an indictable offense, refer to the section in this manual on expunging indictable convictions.

Outstanding Fines

If you are still on a court-ordered payment plan and it is not yet satisfied by reason other than willful noncompliance, and you have otherwise met the five year time requirement you may still be eligible to expunge, but the court will provide for the continued collection of the fine or entry of civil judgment, payable to and collected by the State Treasurer, for the outstanding amount.

Early Pathway Expungement of Disorderly Persons Convictions

The court may grant an expungement of a disorderly persons offense even if less than five years have passed per the above section where:

- Less than five years have passed since the payment of a fine (but the waiting requirement has otherwise been met), and the court finds that you substantially complied with a court-ordered payment plan, or could not do so because of compelling circumstances (this can include the amount of the fine imposed, your age at the time of the offense, your financial condition, and other circumstances affecting your ability to pay); or
- At least three years but less than five years have passed since the date of the most recent conviction, payment of fine, completion of probation or parole, or release from incarceration—whichever is later; you have had no convictions for an indictable offense, or disorderly persons offense since the time of the most recent conviction, and the court finds that compelling circumstances exist to grant the expungement.

Expunging a Municipal Ordinance Violation

Municipal courts also hear cases involving violations of municipal ordinances (town laws). Some examples of municipal ordinance violations include littering, obscenity, curfew violations, unleashed pets, and loud radios.

You may expunge your municipal ordinance violations unless you were convicted of a prior or subsequent indictable offense in New Jersey or any other state, or convicted of a disorderly persons offense on more than two occasions. The waiting period is two years from the date of conviction, payment of fine, satisfactory completion of probation, or release from jail—whichever is later.

Prior expungement of an indictable conviction, however, will not prevent the expungement of a municipal ordinance violation.

Young Drug Offenders Get Special Consideration for Certain Convictions

A person who was 21 or younger at the time of the offense of possessing a controlled dangerous substance, or of selling, distributing, or possessing marijuana or hashish with the intent to sell, may be eligible to apply for expungement one year after the conviction, termination of probation, or parole or discharge from custody, whichever is later, if:

- The conviction was for possession of a controlled dangerous substance; or
- The total amount of the marijuana sold, distributed, or possessed with intent to sell was less than one ounce; or
- The total amount of hashish sold, distributed, or possessed with intent to sell was less than 5 grams.

To be eligible, the following conditions must be met:

- You did not violate any conditions of your parole or probation after discharge;
- You were not convicted of any previous or subsequent indictable offense or drug offense; and
- You did not have an adult criminal matter dismissed after completion of a supervisory treatment or other diversion program.

Expunging a Juvenile Record

If you were adjudged a juvenile delinquent, you may expunge your record in one of two ways.

First, you may expunge your adjudications “as if” they were an adult record. For example, if you were charged with an indictable offense as a juvenile, you may expunge it if you meet the requirements of expunging an adult indictable conviction. This same rule would apply to disorderly persons offenses (See Expunging a Disorderly Persons Offense, above) and municipal ordinance violations (See Expunging a Municipal Ordinance Violation, above).

Second, and most important, you may expunge an entire record of juvenile delinquency adjudications if you meet the following conditions:

- Three years have elapsed since your final discharge from legal custody or supervision, or three years have elapsed after the entry of any other court order not involving custody or supervision (not counting periods of post-incarceration supervision);
- You have not been convicted of an indictable offense or a disorderly persons offense, or adjudged a delinquent, or in need of supervision, during the three years prior to the filing of your petition, and no proceeding or complaint is pending seeking such a conviction or adjudication, (again, not counting any period of post-incarceration supervision);
- You were never adjudged a juvenile delinquent for a non-expungeable offense (See Convictions That Cannot Be Expunged, above);
- You never had an adult conviction expunged; and
- You never had adult indictable charges dismissed following completion of a supervisory treatment or other diversion program.

If you were taken into custody as a juvenile and the matter did not lead to an adjudication of delinquency, you are eligible to expunge the matter “as if” you are expunging an adult arrest which did not lead to conviction (See Expunging an Arrest Record, below).

Expunging an Arrest Record

Many people believe that if they were arrested or taken into custody but not convicted (either because they were found not guilty or because the charges were dismissed), their record remains clean. However, this is not true. In fact, a record of an arrest may cause as many problems as a record of conviction. It is, therefore, as important to expunge a dismissed case as it is to expunge a record of conviction.

If you were arrested for any offense but not convicted (either found not guilty, acquitted, or the charges were dismissed), you are eligible for an expungement, with two exceptions. If the dismissal, acquittal, or discharge resulted from a plea bargaining agreement in which you agreed to a conviction on other charges, the conviction must be eligible for expungement in order to expunge the record of the dismissed charges. Example: John was charged with harassment and simple assault, both disorderly persons offenses. In court, John agreed to plead guilty to the assault charge in exchange for the harassment charge being dropped. As a result, John was never convicted of harassment, but the arrest for harassment still exists. If the assault conviction is expungeable, he could also expunge the record of the arrest on the harassment charge. If you were found not guilty by reason of insanity, expungement is not permitted at all.

The expungement of arrests not leading to conviction are now handled by the court under expedited procedures at the time of dismissal. If your case was dismissed by the Superior Court, the court will order the expungement of the arrest and disposition. If your case was dismissed by the municipal court, you should be provided with an application to expunge your records.

If your offense was dismissed based on successful participation in a Veterans Diversion Program, the county prosecutor may move on your behalf for the expungement of the arrest or charge and the diversion at the time of dismissal.

If you are expunging arrests that did not lead to conviction prior to April 18, 2016, or if you have a combination of arrests that did not lead to a conviction and other arrests and convictions, you may use the forms included in this manual.

Pretrial Intervention, Conditional Discharge, Conditional Dismissal, Veterans Diversion Program, Juvenile Diversion, and other Diversion Programs

If your charges were dismissed pursuant to a program of PTI, conditional discharge, conditional dismissal, veterans diversion, juvenile diversion or any other diversion program you will still have an arrest record that can be expunged like any other arrest record. (See Expunging an Arrest Record, above.)

If your charges were dismissed after you completed PTI, conditional dismissal, or conditional discharge, you will be eligible to expunge the arrest six months after the order of dismissal. If your charges were dismissed after you completed a Veterans Diversion Program, and it was not expunged by the court at the time of dismissal, you may expunge your arrest record at any time.

Objections to your Expungement

The prosecutor or another party might object to your expungement if you do not meet the statutory guidelines for an expungement or if the need for the availability of your criminal record outweighs the desirability of expunging your record. If the court agrees, your expungement will be denied. If there is only a problem with the form of your application, you will be notified. In many cases, you will be given a chance to file an amended application with corrected or additional information.

Other Requirements Before You Can File a Petition for Expungement

You must not have any charges pending or otherwise still open when you file a Petition for Expungement, and you must certify to that on your Petition. Also, if you are seeking the expungement of an indictable conviction, you must certify that you have never been granted an expungement or similar relief regarding an indictable conviction in New Jersey or in any other state or federal court. If your case was dismissed as a result of completion of a supervisory treatment or other diversion program, you must indicate the nature of the original charge, the court of disposition, and the date of disposition. You must also state whether you legally changed your name, the date of judgment of name change, and your previous legal name. If applicable, provide a copy of the order for name change.

Do You Have an Out-of-State Criminal Record?

New Jersey courts cannot expunge a criminal record from another state. Convictions from another state, however, are counted toward the number of convictions that are allowed for expungement of a criminal record under New Jersey law. For this reason, out-of-state convictions must be listed in your petition for expungement. The criminal record from another state will count as an indictable offense if the elements of the crime committed are similar to the elements of an indictable offense in New Jersey. Similarly, the out-of-state conviction will be treated as a disorderly persons charge if the elements of the charge are similar to the elements of a New Jersey disorderly persons charge.

Step 2: Locate Your Records

In order to prepare your expungement petition, you will need to gather the following information:

- The date of your arrest or complaint, or date you were taken into custody;
- The statute(s) and the offense(s) for which you were arrested and convicted (note that, if the offenses were reduced from the original charges, these will be different);
- The original indictment, summons(es), or complaint(s)/reference number(s);
- The date of the conviction or the date the charges were dismissed if you were found not guilty (also called “date of disposition”); and
- The court’s disposition of the matter and the specific punishment imposed, if any, including the dates any fines were paid and when you completed probation or parole, if any imposed.

If you had an attorney when you were arrested and charged, check first to see if he or she has this information in your case file. If so, this can save you time.

If you must locate your records on your own for an indictable conviction or arrest, contact the Criminal Case Management Office in the county where the arrest or conviction occurred, and take some personal identification, such as a driver's license or a birth certificate. For juvenile records, you will need to contact the Family Court. You might also contact the county prosecutor and explain that you are interested in expunging your records and ask for the information listed above, or ask to look at your file if this is permitted. You may also be able to find information you need on disorderly persons offenses by contacting the clerk of the municipal court(s) in which you were prosecuted or the police department involved in your arrest(s).

If your case was heard in the Superior Court and a conviction was entered, much of the information you need will be contained in a document called a Judgment of Conviction or "JOC." In the Municipal Court, this document is called a "disposition."

Online Sources of Record Information

You may also be able to locate some of your records through online sources. The Promis Gavel Criminal Records Database (<https://portal.njcourts.gov/webe4/ExternalPGPA>) contains detailed information, searchable by name, for indictable convictions in New Jersey. It does not contain juvenile records, disorderly persons offenses, municipal ordinance violations or arrests that did not lead to conviction. The Municipal Courts Case Search (<https://portal.njcourts.gov/webe5/MPAWeb/index.jsp>) contains information, searchable by name, complaint, or summons number, for municipal complaints only.

If you cannot get all of the information you need through these sources or if you are unsure whether you have collected all the necessary information for all of your arrests, you can request a copy of your criminal record from the New Jersey State Police. See instructions for obtaining your criminal history record on page 21. You can also find the instructions and the form you will need to fill out on the New Jersey State Police website, www.njsp.org/criminal-history-records.

Note: The State Police will only have a rap sheet if you were fingerprinted when you were arrested. If you were not fingerprinted, and only a complaint was signed against you when you were arrested, you will still have a record of the arrest to expunge at the police department, but you will not have a rap sheet within the Division of State Police, State Bureau of Investigation.

If you need to obtain records for out-of-state offenses, you may need to contact that particular jurisdiction or order a criminal history record from the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). Contact the FBI for more information or visit www.fbi.gov. You may also be able to obtain your FBI report from the State Police vendor mentioned above.

Step 3: Complete the Forms

If you have access to a computer and printer, you can fill out the required forms on our website, www.lsnjlaw.org. Otherwise, you can print the forms and complete them by hand. The Petition for Expungement states that you are requesting an Expungement Order and states why you qualify. Print a copy of Form 1 in this guide, using multiple copies if you have more than three arrests, and fill in the blanks.

Fill in your name, mailing address, telephone number, and email address, if you have one, at the top left-hand side of the form. At the top right-hand side, enter the name of the county in which you will be filing the Petition for Expungement. You must file the petition in the county where the most recent indictable conviction was entered. If you were not convicted of an indictable offense, you must file in the county of your most recent offense or arrest. Leave the space above “Reference No.” blank. The court clerk will give you a reference number and will fill in the blank.

Check the appropriate box if you are filing a clean slate expungement, crime spree expungement, drug court expungement, early pathway or late payment of fine expungement or you are expunging dismissed cases only. Where it states “In the Matter of the Expungement of the Criminal/Juvenile Records of _____,” enter your full name.

Then, where it states, “I, _____,” fill in your name, and where it states “residing at _____,” enter your current address. Enter your date of birth in paragraph 1. In paragraph 2, enter the date on which you were arrested or taken into custody and the town in which the arrest occurred. Then fill in the name of the offense you were charged with and give the New Jersey statute or municipal ordinance under which you were arrested. If you were charged with multiple offenses, list each offense separated by a semi-colon. Then list each corresponding statute in the space provided, also separated by a semi-colon.

Fill in the original indictment, summons, or complaint number(s) in paragraph 3.

If the charge against you was dismissed, fill in paragraph 4. (If the charge against you was not dismissed, cross out paragraph 4 and go to paragraph 5.) Fill in the date on which the charge was dismissed, the name of the charge that was dismissed, and the name of the court that dismissed the charge—for example, Ocean County Superior Court, or Trenton Municipal Court. If you did not participate in PTI, a conditional discharge, conditional dismissal, or other diversion program, cross out “after PTI, conditional discharge, conditional dismissal, veterans diversion, juvenile diversion, or other diversion program was completed.” Indicate whether the dismissal was the result of a plea bargain.

If you were convicted or adjudicated delinquent of the charges, fill in paragraph 5. Fill in the date on which you were convicted or adjudicated delinquent, the name of the offense, and the statute. (Remember, this is the statute under which you were convicted or adjudicated delinquent, not necessarily the statute under which you were arrested.)

You also must indicate what the sentence was. For example, the sentence could have been jail/prison time, a fine, restitution, probation or parole, or a combination of these. You should indicate the date on which you were released from prison, the date the fine was paid, and/or the date on which probation or parole was completed in the spaces provided.

If you are trying to expunge more than three adjudications, convictions, or arrests, you will need to fill out additional copies of Form 1. Remember, you must disclose all of your arrests in New Jersey or any other jurisdiction, and your juvenile record, if you have one, on your expungement petition.

Sign and print your name at the bottom of page 4 where indicated.

Note: Make sure that you fill in or cross out all of the blanks on Form 1, including your date of birth.

You must also complete the verification on page 5 of the petition, indicating that there are no disorderly persons, petty disorderly persons, or criminal charges pending against you. If you are seeking the expungement of an indictable conviction, you must certify that you have never been granted an expungement of an indictable conviction in New Jersey or in any other state or federal court. If you are not seeking expungement of an indictable conviction, cross out paragraph 3 of the verification.

If you legally changed your name, you must provide the date of judgment of name change, your previous legal name, and a copy of the order for name change.

The verification must be notarized. If you are filing for an “early pathway” expungement, you must complete either the Certification in Further Support of Petitioner’s Expungement Application (Late Payment of Fine) (Form 8), or the Certification in Further Support of Petitioner’s Expungement Application (Compelling Circumstances) (Form 9), whichever is applicable. Fill in your name and contact information the same as in your Petition for Expungement. Check the appropriate box depending on whether you were convicted of an indictable offense or a disorderly persons offense.

In the Certification in Further Support of Petitioner’s Expungement Application (Late Payment of Fine), you must indicate the amount of your fines (paragraph 4); your age at the time of the offense(s) (paragraph 5); and describe your financial condition and any other circumstances affecting your ability to pay (paragraph 6). You can attach any relevant documents to the back of the Certification.

In Paragraph 4 of the Certification in Further Support of Petitioner’s Expungement Application (Compelling Circumstances), you must attach court documents related to your criminal conviction, including pre-sentence reports, judgments of conviction, and plea and sentencing transcripts, if they are available (paragraph 2). These documents may not be required if you are filing the Certification for disorderly persons convictions. Also indicate why you want an expungement (paragraph 5); explain the particular circumstances of your case why the court should grant your expungement (paragraph 6); and list evidence of your positive and/or rehabilitated character and conduct since the conviction (paragraph 7) and then attach copies at the back of your Certification (Exhibit B).

Note: If you were convicted for the sale or distribution of CDS or possession with the intent to sell in the third or fourth degree, you must also complete the Certification in Further Support of Petitioner’s Expungement Application (Compelling Circumstances).

Next, fill out the Order for Hearing (Form 2). The Order for Hearing is used by the judge to schedule a hearing. The Superior Court judge assigned to your case is required to schedule a hearing between 35 and 60 days after he or she receives your petition. Fill in your name and address at the upper left-hand corner. Indicate the county in which you will be filing your petition. Again, the clerk will fill in the reference number, so leave that space blank. Where it states “In the Matter of the Expungement of the Criminal/Juvenile Records of _____,” enter your name. Fill in your name in the first space after “This matter having been opened to the Court upon the annexed Petition of _____.” Also, fill in the blanks at the bottom of the page where it asks for the prosecutor of the county where you were arrested or taken into custody, the chief of the police department of the town where you were arrested or taken into custody, and the magistrate of the town municipal court where you were arrested or taken into custody. If you were incarcerated, fill in the name of the prison warden/administrator. If you were not incarcerated, you may leave this blank.

The judge will sign the order, so leave the next space blank.

Fill out the Expungement Order (Form 3). At the top left-hand corner, enter your name and address, and at the top right-hand side, indicate the county in which you will be filing your petition. Leave the space above “Reference No.” blank.

Next, in the first line of the Expungement Order, after “Verified Petition of,” enter your name, then your address. Leave the next three spaces blank, and after “the Clerk(s) of the _____ Municipal Court(s)” and “Chief(s) of the _____ Police Department(s),” fill in the name of the town in which you were arrested. If you were arrested in more than one town, enter the names of all of the towns. Then, enter the county of the prosecutor(s) in the county or counties where you were arrested. Enter your name in the next blank. In the last spaces on the first page of Form 3, enter the dates you were arrested, the statute(s) under which you were arrested, and the original indictment/ accusation/ State Grand Jury/summons/warrant/complaint/reference number. Leave the signature line on the second page blank. The judge will sign the order.

If you are expunging more than three arrests or convictions, you must use additional Expungement Order forms (Form 3).

Step 4: File and Serve the Forms

Next, make three copies of your notarized Petition for Expungement (Form 1), Order for Hearing (Form 2), proposed Expungement Order (Form 3) and any accompanying certifications (Form 8, Form 9), if necessary. Deliver or mail the originals and two of the photocopies (keep one copy of each for your records), two self-addressed, stamped envelopes, and the cover letter (Form 4) to the Criminal Case Management Office in the county where the arrest, custody, and/or prosecution occurred. See page 25 for a list of the county offices where forms should be mailed, along with telephone numbers.

One copy of the Petition for Expungement, Order for Hearing, Proposed Expungement Order, and any accompanying certifications will be mailed back to you marked “Filed” and with a reference number. The Order for Hearing will also state the time and the date for your hearing. Immediately after receiving the filed copies from the court, make enough copies so you may serve a copy on each required party.

After you receive a filed copy of your documents from the clerk, mail one copy of each, immediately, via certified mail, return receipt requested, to each of the following:

- The Attorney General
- The Superintendent of State Police, Expungement Unit
- The county prosecutor
- The magistrate or the court clerk of the municipal court if the matter was heard by a municipal court
- The chief of police or other head of the police department where the offense was committed or the arrest was made
- The chief law enforcement officer of any other New Jersey law enforcement agency that participated in the arrest
- The warden/administrator of any institution in which you were incarcerated, if applicable
- For State Grand Jury cases: Division of Criminal Justice, Attention: Records and Identification, 25 Market Street, P.O. Box 085, Trenton, New Jersey 08625
- For conditional discharge, conditional dismissal, and pretrial intervention, the county probation department.

You may use the cover letter (Form 5) when mailing to these agencies.

Mail the copies of these forms right away, as the statute mandates service or mailing within five days from the date of the order. Mail them at the post office, by certified mail, return receipt requested.

After you have received the certified mail return receipt cards back from the post office, contact the Criminal Case Management Office in the Superior Court, and ask the clerk whether the court requires that the proof of mailing be submitted at or prior to the hearing.

If the proof of mailing is required to be submitted prior to the hearing, submit the certified mail receipts and the Proof of Notice (Form 6) pursuant to the clerk's instructions. If proof is required to be produced at the hearing, make sure that you take the green certified mail return receipt cards and the Proof of Notice to court with you on the day of the hearing.

The Proof of Notice should be filled out like the other forms, with your name and address at the left-hand corner, and the county in which you filed the action filled in on the right. Indicate the reference number in the space provided, and fill in your name in the space at "In the Matter of the Expungement of the Criminal/Juvenile Records of .". In the spaces provided in the Proof of Notice, fill in the name of each agency to which you mailed a copy of your expungement documents.

Step 5: Go to the Hearing

Typically, you will not be required to appear in court for a hearing. If an appearance is not required, you must mail the green return receipt cards to the place where you filed your petition, at least one week before the scheduled hearing.)

If the court requires you to appear, however, you need to be prepared. Get to the court on your assigned hearing date about 15 minutes early. Take your expungement documents and the green return receipt cards to the hearing (unless you previously filed them with the court) and, when you arrive, inform the court clerk that you are there. Any party objecting to the expungement will tell the judge the reason. The judge may ask you some questions and will decide whether to grant or deny you an expungement. If there is no opposition, the judge will, in most cases, grant your expungement.

If no parties object to the expungement, the court may grant the order without a hearing. If this happens, you will receive a signed and filed Expungement Order in the mail. It's always a good practice to call the court the day before the hearing to confirm that it is still on the court's calendar.

Step 6: Serve the Expungement Order

Immediately after you receive a copy of the Expungement Order signed by the judge, mail one copy of the Expungement Order, by certified mail, return receipt requested, to each of the following:

- The Attorney General
- The Superintendent of State Police, Expungement Unit
- The county prosecutor
- The magistrate or the court clerk of the municipal court if the matter was heard by

- a municipal court
- The chief of police or other head of the police department where the offense was committed or the arrest was made
 - The chief law enforcement officer of any other New Jersey law enforcement agency that participated in the arrest
 - The records division of any institution in which you were incarcerated
 - The identification bureau in the county where the arrest was made or where you were incarcerated (see page 29)
 - The warden/administrator of any institution in which you were incarcerated
 - For State Grand Jury cases: Division of Criminal Justice, Attention: Records and Identification, 25 Market Street, P.O. Box 085, Trenton, New Jersey 08625
 - For conditional discharge, conditional dismissal, and Pre-Trial Intervention, the county probation department.

You may use the cover letter (Form 7) when mailing to these agencies.

Keep the mailing receipts and the green cards that are returned to you as proof that the documents were received. You are now entitled by law to answer any question on job applications, school applications, credit applications, military service applications, etc., as if the arrest and/or conviction never occurred.

Remember, however, that if any law enforcement officer asks you about previous arrests or convictions, you must tell him or her that you have an expunged record, and you must tell him or her what the record was. Keep a copy of the Expungement Order in a safe place.

How to Get a Copy of Your Criminal History Record

The Division of State Police, Criminal Information Unit (CIU) provides fingerprint-based criminal history background checks to anyone who requests a copy of his or her record. The New Jersey State Police use the live scan fingerprinting services provided by IDEMIA, a private company under contract with the state of New Jersey. In order to be fingerprinted for expungement purposes, you must contact IDEMIA to schedule a time and place to have your fingerprints recorded at an Identogo site. The quickest and easiest way to schedule your appointment is via their website, <https://uenroll.identogo.com>. If you do not have internet access, call IDEMIA, toll-free, at 1-877-503-5981 (Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., and Saturday, 8:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon). Spanish-speaking operators are available upon request.

IDEMIA uses a six character service code to identify the agency and the reason for fingerprinting. The use of this service code ensures that you will be fingerprinted for the correct purpose and not accidentally or incorrectly processed for a service you don't need. The service code for a personal records request for expungement is 2F1BJG. Information about codes for other purposes can be found on the NJ State Police website at www.njsp.org/criminal-history-records.

You must bring the following to your appointment:

- Identification. Your ID must be issued by a federal, state, county, or municipal body for identification purposes. It must include your photograph, name, home address, and date of birth. Acceptable identification includes a passport or a valid photo driver's license or photo ID issued by New Jersey's or any state's MVC or DMV.
- The required fee. The fee is $42.80, which includes the $12 vendor fee and sales tax. You may pay by credit card (Visa, MasterCard, American Express, or Discover), prepaid debit cards, or electronic check (ACH). Payment will be collected at the fingerprint site on the day of your scheduled appointment. Appointments must be canceled by 5:00 p.m. on the business day prior to your scheduled appointment.

If you have any questions about the form, contact the New Jersey State Police, Criminal Information Unit, at (609) 882-2000, ext. 2918.

Conclusion

As a final reminder, make sure that you have completely followed all of the steps required in this guide. This is very important because, even though you may be eligible, if you have missed any of the required steps, your petition for expungement may be denied. In that case, you will have to start over.

We have tried to explain as simply as possible the steps to get your records expunged. Please contact us at publications@lsnj.org if you have any suggestions about how this guide can be improved. Frequently Asked Questions

Q: I already went through the IDEMIA fingerprint process with a previous employer. Do I need to go through the entire process again to get my records?

A: Yes. You must obtain a separate criminal record report, which will be used solely for expungement purposes.

Q: I have convictions for an indictable offense and three disorderly persons offenses. Can I expunge both?

A: Yes. As long as the indictable offense is not a non-expungeable offense and you have met the required waiting period, both your indictable conviction and disorderly persons convictions are expungeable in the same application.

Q: Will my out-of-state convictions affect whether I am eligible to expunge my record?

A: Yes. Therefore, you must fully disclose your criminal record in the expungement petition, including out-of-state arrests and convictions.

Q: Can I use my petition to expunge a conviction from another state?

A: No. You may only expunge your arrests and convictions in New Jersey. You must consult with an expert in that jurisdiction to determine whether expungement is available in that state.

Q: Years ago, I expunged three disorderly persons offenses from my record. Can I now expunge another disorderly persons conviction?

A: Yes. You are permitted to expunge up to five disorderly persons convictions from your record. You may do this in one or more petitions for expungement, provided you meet all other statutory requirements.

Q: I need to have my petition notarized. What should I do if I can't find a notary public?

A: Ask around. Someone you already know may be a notary public or may know how to locate one. Attorneys licensed to practice law in the State of New Jersey are also allowed to notarize documents.

Q: What do I tell my employer if they ask me if I have an expunged record?

A: Except for law enforcement, corrections or the judiciary, any expunged information may not be revealed and you have the right to tell your employer that you do not have a record.
