

Legal Services of New Jersey Presents the Next Justice Series Event

REPARATIONS NOW

Monday, September 13, 2021, noon - 1:30 p.m. EST

THE TIME IS NOW.

As we continue to raise awareness and understanding of systemic racism, more particularly the history, policies, and practices that intertwine to disadvantage Black people, we understand the increasingly urgent call for reparations.

Learn about New Jersey's campaign for reparations, California's new law creating a task force to explore reparations, and reparations in the context of historical Black massacres. We will also explore how reparations fit into the larger context of advocacy for civil legal assistance, social justice, and the fight against poverty.

Please join us for this important conversation.
